

Empire of Adammia Office of the Emperor

Decree LIII

Dual Residency

UPON OUR IMPERIAL MAJESTY'S SOVEREIGN COMMAND,
NOTING the the need for a flexible system of dual residency so that the Provinces can be more easily represented by a Councilor,
BE IT DECREED as follows:

Any full citizen of the Empire of Adammia who is undertaking higher education within a macronation may have a holiday address and a term-time address; such an arrangement shall be referred to as dual residency. Such a citizen may, for the purposes of Article VIII Section 4 Subsection a) of the Supreme Directive, if their addresses are located within two separate provinces, be considered a resident of both provinces, and thus may stand as a Local Election candidate in either province; however, they may not stand as a Local Election candidate in both provinces simultaneously. Any citizen with dual residency must designate one of their addresses as a primary address; they will then only be counted towards the population of the territorial division containing their primary address, and they may only vote in a Local Election for a given province if their primary address is located within that province.

This, the fifty-third Imperial Decree of Our Imperial Majesty Adam the First, Emperor of Adammia, Archduke of South Adammia, Count of Penmine and Spildcastle, Lord Chancellor of State, Grand Admiral etcetera, is decreed at Serkatia on this the fifth day of November, two-thousand and seventeenth year of the Common Era and the fifth year of Our reign, and is signed into immediate effect.
